

Notice: Group Division test December 2023 for 5th Semester for Placement Classes

All the students of B.Tech(CSE Core and Specializations) 5th Semester (Department of Computer Science and Engineering) are hereby informed that the Coding and Aptitude combined test for the Group Division will take place on 4th December 2023 on the HackerEarth platform at the Campus only. The seating plan will be shared through email or on the department website before 4th Dec. All students are required to fill the below form very carefully on or before Friday, 1st December 2023, 12:00 PM. The students are required to have an account on hackerearth.com with the same email ID entered in the below form.

Any student who does not fill the form before the above-mentioned date and time will be assumed to be not interested in placement classes and so will not be allowed to attend any group's placement class to be scheduled in your 6th sem. Please don't message or call regarding your unavailability for the test due to any reason, or asking can I take it from home...The Answer is NO...!
